The ten finalists' performances included stage magic, dancing, juggling, drama and more. The finalists said that after practicing for a few months, their performance skills and confidence had improved and that they were thrilled to be on stage. Just before the winners were announced, the GEG management team, dressed in stylish costumes, did their own stage performance. This year, the judging panel was comprised of Mr. Cheong Ho Ian, President of Macau Down Syndrome Association; Mr. Antonio Almeida, Magician of Dream Concept Macau; Ms. Joanna Barnes, Chairperson of GEG Staff Social Club; Ms. Tracy Koh, Vice President of Production, Entertainment, GEG and Director of 2016 Galaxy Got Talent; Mr. Kevin Wong, Assistant Vice President of Production, Entertainment, GEG. Beyond the rigorous evaluation, apart from the Galaxy Got Talent Gold, Silver and Bronze Awards, the judges had also promulgated several awards including Facebook Most LIKE Award, Best Presentation Award, Best Showmanship Award, Best Creativity Award, Best Image Award and Best Audience Choice Award.

This year is the eighth consecutive year that GEG organizes the "Galaxy Got Talents", and to add originality to the competition, a different theme is selected each year for our contestants, including "Movies and Musicals" and "Walk through the Ages" that were introduced last year and in 2014, respectively. The annual themes act as an inspiration for team members to get creative on their costume, image and performance design, which provides an unforgettable experience for the attending judges and audiences.
